● Helpful hints

If you are not sure how to form a passive sentence, think of the active sentence first.

Active sentence:

Someone stole my sister's bike yesterday.

Passive sentence:

My sister's bike was stolen yesterday.

- Look at the active sentence. The verb is stole and the object is my sister's bike.
- The object of the active sentence (my sister's bike) becomes the subject of the passive sentence.
My sister's bike ...
- Then we need the verb be in the same tense as the verb in the active sentence. Here, stole is past simple, so we need was.
My sister's bike was ...
- Then we need the past participle of the verb in the active sentence. The past participle of steal is stolen.
My sister's bike was stolen ...
- Finally, we finish the sentence in the right way.
My sister's bike was stolen yesterday.

Watch out!

- When the verb in a passive sentence is a phrasal verb, don't forget to include the particle.

Inventions

If you invented something important, (1) would want to make money out of (2) , right? Most of us would want to make some money from (3) invention. It seems only fair – we did the work, so the money should be (4) too. Many inventors who have had (5) inventions produced, have become rich and famous and we shouldn't blame (6) for that.

But have (7) heard of Tim Berners-Lee? (8) invented the World Wide Web on the Internet, one of the most important inventions of the last fifty years. Millions of lives have been changed by (9) introduction.

When Tim Berners-Lee invented the Web, he made a promise to (10) – that he wouldn't make any money out of it, and that he would give (11) invention to the world. He did, and now the Web belongs to all of (12)

Ask (13) what life would be like if the World Wide Web wasn't free. We should be grateful to Tim Berners-Lee, and thank (14) for (15) amazing gift to the world.

Relative pronouns

We use relative pronouns in relative clauses.

We use relative clauses to give more information about something, without having to start a new sentence.

That man over there is called Bill Gates. He started Microsoft. →

That man over there, who's called Bill Gates, started Microsoft.

Use

Example

who for people

What's the name of the man who created the Internet?

which for things and animals

The experiment which worked was the last one.

where for places

This is the town where Albert Einstein was born.

whose to show possession

That's the man whose sister discovered a new planet.

Watch out!

- We can use who for animals when we give them a personality.
✓ Our dog, who's called Benji, is eight years old.
- When there is a relative pronoun, remember not to repeat the subject/object.
✗ What's the name of the man who he created the World Wide Web?
✗ This is the experiment which I'm doing it at the moment.

Non-defining relative clauses

Non-defining relative clauses give extra information. The sentence makes sense without the relative clause.

That man over there, who is called Bill Gates, started Microsoft.

If we remove the relative clause, the sentence still makes sense:

That man over there started Microsoft.

Use

Example

To give extra information

This program, which is totally free, protects your computer against viruses.

Helpful hints

We use commas with non-defining relative clauses.

✓ Carl, whose sister is famous, is a friend of mine.

Defining relative clauses

Defining relative clauses give very important information. If we remove a defining relative clause, the sentence doesn't make sense.

Imagine that there are lots of people in a room. Only one of them is wearing a blue shirt.

The person who is wearing the blue shirt started Microsoft.

If we remove the relative clause, we won't know which person it is.

✗ The person started Microsoft.

Use

Example

To define who or what we are talking about

This is the TV which works. This is the TV which doesn't work.

Helpful hints

- We don't use commas with defining relative clauses.
- We can use that instead of who and which.
✓ Did you see the programme about the woman who invented Tippex?
✓ Did you see the programme about the woman that invented Tippex?

Actuaries

Did you know that there are people (1) are paid to predict the future? They're called 'actuaries'. I'd never heard of actuaries until my friend Greg, (2) mother is an actuary, told me about them. It's a job (3) sounds quite interesting.

Actuaries usually work for companies, like insurance companies, (4) deal with the chances of things happening in the future. Actuaries have to decide how probable it is that something will happen. For example, it's more probable that buildings will be flooded in places (5) it rains a lot.

Greg's mum, (6) has been an actuary for about five years, is involved with car insurance.

She works in an office (7) they decide how much car insurance people should pay. It's more probable that a car (8) is new is safer and more reliable than a very old car, so people

(9) cars are new pay less insurance. If there are drivers (10) she thinks will probably have more accidents, she makes them pay more insurance!

- have only one form
I/you/he/she/it/we/they may write an e-mail.

Semi-modals

There are also some phrases that we use like modals:

- ought to (ought not to)
- have to (don't have to)
- need to (don't need to / needn't)

Like modals, ought to doesn't change.Have to and need to change for person and tense like normal verbs and have infinitives.

Watch out!

- We form questions with modal verbs like this:
✓ Can you understand what he's saying?
- We use modals with the passive voice like this:
✓ The address should be written clearly on the front of the envelope.

Ability

Use	Modal	Example
Ability now or generally	can	Can you use a fax machine?

Watch out!

 - ✓ Soon, I'll be able to speak Italian quite well. (future)

The language in a story, for example, should be (34) , but the language in a report or an article should be much more (35) When you're writing a formal essay giving your opinion, make sure the (36) gives a general idea of the subject. Vida loved to keep fit. Whenever she could, she went to the gym after work. But one evening, Vida got home late. 'It's too late to go to the gym now,' she said to herself. 'I'll just watch TV instead.'

She made herself a nice, fresh, healthy salad and sat down in front of the TV. Suddenly, she saw something on TV that caught her attention. It was an advert for an exercise bike called the Fitmaster 5000.

'That looks fantastic!' thought Vida. 'I think I'll buy that!'

She phoned the number and ordered the machine. It came the next day.

It was much bigger than it looked on TV, and the only place Vida could put it was at the top of the stairs.

She loved the Fitmaster 5000 so much, though, that from that day on, she only exercised at home. She didn't go to the gym any more. She spent hours every evening on her exercise bike, and every evening she went faster and faster. One evening, she was going so fast that the exercise bike began to move forwards. Before she knew what had happened, she – and the bike – fell down the stairs. All sixteen of them. Right to the bottom. Ouch!

The Fitmaster 5000 was broken, and so was Vida's leg.

'I think that's enough exercise for a while,' thought Vida, as she lay in her hospital bed. 'And that's enough watching adverts on TV too.'

- When we ask questions using the causative, the past participle stays after the noun.

A Write one word in each gap.

15th March

I had my first driving lesson today. I think it was okay (1) general. Well, I think I coped (2) it quite well, but my instructor seemed a little nervous! She pointed (3) that I was going a bit too fast, so I slowed down and she seemed to relax after that. She gave me some homework. I have to (4) up the meanings of some road signs in a book and then learn them (5) heart. I'm quite good (6) that kind of thing, so it shouldn't be too difficult. She thinks I'll be capable (7) passing the test in a few months. I'm not sure about that, but I'll continue (8) the lessons and see what happens. Wish me luck!
